

SUCCESSION LAW*

Manuel Trigo

Associate Professor of Faculty of Law of University of Macau

1. Introduction and General Notions
 - 1.1 Legal notion of succession because of death
 - 1.2 Conception of death
 - 1.3 Different types of succession because of death
2. Sources of Succession Law and Application in Time
 - 2.1 Sources of succession law and continuity of laws in force
 - 2.2 Application in time and transitory law
3. Fundamental Principles of Inheritance Regime
4. General Successions
 - 4.1 Opening of succession
 - 4.2 Inheritance calling, designation, calling and its presupposition
 - 4.3 Inheritance in subrogation and jus accrescendi (the right of survivorship)
 - 4.4 Acceptance and derivative acquisition
 - 4.5 Estate in abeyance and declaration of vacant succession
 - 4.6 Petition, administration and transfer of inheritance
 - 4.7 Duty and inventory of inheritance
 - 4.8 Partition of inheritance
5. Special Successions
 - 5.1 Statutory succession
 - 5.2 Forced succession
 - 5.3 Testamentary succession
 - 5.4 Contractual succession
6. Characteristics of Succession of Macau and the Reform of Succession Law
7. Doctrine and Case Law: Bibliography

1. INTRODUCTION AND GENERAL NOTIONS

Succession Law regulates succession due to death as well as the succession process and encompasses the commencement of the succession process to the transfer of the property of rights of the deceased to his heirs.

* Paper presented on 31 July 2003 and revised on 31 December 2005. Translated by Wei Dan and revised according to the process outlined in the preface by the editor.